Zaragoza Central Market

DECOPOX

Also called Lanuza Market, a modernist market from the beginning of the 20th century, rehabilitated in 2020.

Offers a wide variety of products; fish and seafood, cod, meats, sausages, chicken, frozen foods, pickles, flowers, fruits and vegetables, nuts, bread, gIBLETS, etc. 4 gastronomic spaces complement the 74 food stalls.

Zaragoza Central Market

National historical monument since 1978 and Asset of Cultural Interest since 1982.

In January 2019, an outstanding work was carried out in the Central Market of Zaragoza. For this renovation, the application of the Decopox System was chosen, a choice that combined high industrial resistance with the aesthetics of a decorative finish.

The Decopox System is a two-component water-based coating that offers a series of notable advantages.

One of its most notable features is the absence of joints on its surface, which creates a uniform and polished appearance. Additionally, this material has a closed pore and is non-absorbent, making it highly resistant to the penetration of liquids and stains.

DECOPOX

National historical monument since 1978 and Asset of Cultural Interest since 1982.

A customizable feature of this system is the ability to manufacture colors that meet RAL, NCS and other universal color chart specifications.

This allows designers and architects to tailor cladding aesthetics to the specific needs and preferences of the project.

In summary, the Decopox System was used on the Zaragoza Central Market site in 2019, offering a coating that combines industrial resistance with an attractive decorative finish.
